I would like to let you know that I am in favor of those serving on juries being able to take notes and to have questions asked. I am a visual learner and taking notes really help me to remember what was said. Taking notes would also help to keep jurors more engaged in the trial. Knowing that the defense and prosecution won't ask every question that may come to mind, I think it's important that jurors be able to ask questions that may not be asked. I believe these changes would make for a fairer and more just trial process.
